Experiments with Early Amber.

Last spring, through the courtesy of the Maine delegation in Congress we were able to distribute smong such of our subscributes among such of our subscributes, a certain smount of sorghum seed of the early amber variety for trial. The object as then stated was first to ascertain whether it will grow and mature in Maine as claimed by the Department of Agriculture, and second to ascertain its value as a soiling crop. The season as every cone knows, has been unfavorable for such an experiment, June being a gry, cold month, and July and August subject to sudden changes and unusual extremes of a sudden changes and unusual extremes of the pleasure the widespread interest which is made to be in the pleasure the widespread interest which is made to be in the pleasure the widespread interest was a soiling or many the control of the sacon, and all the season of the early subject to build in the process of hybridization of the consument of the possible of the sacon as every known and mature in Maine as claimed by then Department of agriculture, and second to ascertain its value as a soiling crop. While making my calls in Springfield I missed the cordial welcome always extended me at the home of Thomas G. Merrill who recently died of consumption. Mr. Merrill had just got where he could enjoy the comforts of a home worked hard for, when he was cut down in the prime of life. He was a consistent christian, a good citizen, kind husband and and an indulgent father. Such men are a loss not only to their family but to the town in which they live. He leaves a wife and two children besides an aged mother and an invalid brother who have the sympathy of the entire community.

wheat and cut two tons of hay to the acre
the next year, try my experience of clearing your land in the fall and burning; then let it lay until spring; then sow on your seed right on the ashes and harrow well.
This was tried by Mr. O. L. Jones and myself let was rad warned a great sweet of self last year and proved a great success.

Norridgewook. ALBRO H. PERKINS.

Will some one inform me through the columns of the Farmer, whether white mulberry trees can be obtained in Maine? If so, where and at what price for those trees of suitable size for transplanting? By so doing you will oblige a Whitefield.

the present time. I only hope, my dear girls, that you may profit by them. The full of the year is close upon us and we should begin our preparations for winter before it is too late. To begin with, I know Newly seeded fields show a nice catch; the corn crop bids fair to be excellent; two weeks more without frost will give us some nice corn and a large yield to the acre; we have hard work to dry grain; some have not closed up haying; there never was a year when the working oxen in this section were sold so close; white worms are making and havoe with potatoes; potatoes are good size but few in the hill; wheat good size but few in the hill; wheat good size but few in the hill; wheat good in this vicinity; cheese factory closed, and with the excellent pasturage made by our continued rains we count on a good butter season from this out.

Mexico.

H. W. Park.

Mexico.

If anyone wants to raise a good crop of wheat and cut two tons of hay to the acre; the next year, try my experience of clearbrown stain, then varnish. If you have a rocking chair, make a nice, light cushion and tidy and also a table cloth of the same material. A piece around the mantel and book shelf adds much to the looks of the room. For this purpose, a dark maroon or brown cloth is better than anything, but creation or new calice may be used with very pretty effect. If you have no pretty curtains make them of unbleached cheese cleth; it is pretty and inexpensive. Make the curtains with a broad hem and a broad piece of the same material used for table cloth and chair cover on the edge rest, the hem. of the same material used for table cloth and chair cover on the edge next the hem.

The latest and by far the most profitable of devices for cooking hens' victuals is gained by taking a ripe pumpkin, dividing in the middle. Scrape the seeds from the inside of both halves, then place in the oven filled with corn, potatoes, apples or any kind of food. It is better to place on a cover of some kind though no harm will come from its being placed on the bottom of the oven. Lef'it bake as long as desired.

Augusta.

I the same material used for table cloth and chair cover on the edge next the hem. A strip across the top is pretty, put on in the shape of a lambrequin or the curtain gathered at the top and run on a rod is the "latest." A common wooden box stuffed and covered is very convenient. But you will say. "I can't get any material of any sort. I live some distance from a town and if I went there I might not find what I wanted." Wait till you come to the end of my "say" before you begin to make except the oven. Lef'it bake as long as desired.

"Thank God for Compound Caygen?"
This is the grateful utterance of the wife of a clergyman. Her letter, dated New City, Rockland county. New York, June 14th, 1880, thus states the condition of her husband when he began the Oxygen Treatment: "Rev. A. J. Conkling, pastor New City and Centennial Churches, Newark Conference, was run down with overcork; voice injured, memory impaired, so that he could scarcely follow up the general reading, much less study; throat affected, and the whole system in a bad state. He would have had to stop preaching had he not found help. I asked him this morning what I should say in reporting progress to you for

Liver-Aid has been a biessing to my poor, afflicted mother. She tried many, many things for her sick headsche, but never found any relief until she took the Liver-Aid. It has indeed, been invaluable to her. She is now using her fourth bottle. I told our druggist how excellent it was, and assured him thas
he might safely recommend it as the best knowr remedy for sick headache. He says it is not adver tised half enough. I hope you will let it become best ter known.
